Thank you for your interest in hosting a food drive for the food bank!
Ways to make the most out of your food drive

Help the Food Bank work smarter, save gas and money, and therefore increase the value of your food drive:

- Can you create and use your own materials and receptacles?
- Are you able to deliver your food when your food drive is over?
- Would you consider hosting a "virtual food drive" rather than a traditional food drive? Typically, for every dollar donated the food bank can purchase approximately $8.00 in product.

If you can incorporate even one of these into your drive, you will help us provide more food so that more families and individuals will receive the help they need.

However, we certainly understand that some food drives require the traditional methods of delivery and pick-up, and we are happy to accommodate the method that best suits your needs to conduct a successful food drive!

Virtual Food Drives:

In a virtual drive, participants simply make a financial contribution in lieu of the traditional non-perishable food items. An investment in the Georgia Mountain Food Bank will multiple benefits back to the community.

Traditional Food Drives:

If you plan to conduct a traditional food drive, you will need to fill out our Food Drive information Form.

If you have any questions about your food drive, need help determining whether you can opt for any of the above ways to increase the value of your food drive, or have questions about the form, please call Randi Dyer at (770)967-0075.
